

REAGLE MUSIC THEATRE

August, 2015

Dear Friends,

In reviewing Kiss Me, Kate, Susan Mulford wrote "Reagle Music Theatre's productions never cease to amaze me. This show is an absolute delight." Despite this and other laudatory reviews, ticket sales have been unusually low.

What you may not know is that Reagle Music Theatre employs between 50 to 100 people - including orchestra members, wardrobe staff, technical crew, carpenters, running crew, painters, box office staff, performers (95% are volunteer, 5% are professional), and management -- many of whom are residents of the West Suburban area.

Many other theatre and arts organizations have closed over the past few years due to our challenging financial times, and all of us at Reagle Music Theatre are feeling this financial squeeze. Despite cutbacks in every department, our 47th consecutive summer season is ending with a financial loss. Several veteran staff members have volunteered to have their paychecks postponed to temporarily help us out, and we are reaching out to you today.

Reagle Music Theatre needs your financial support.

We urge you to please consider donating to our Summer Relief Fund. If everyone who receives this letter makes a tax-deductible donation of at least $30, we would have enough to keep Reagle Music Theatre alive and serving our West Suburban region.

We thank you in advance for any donations that you may make.

Very truly yours,

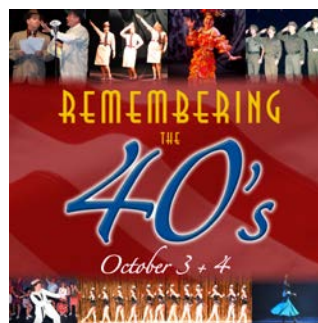

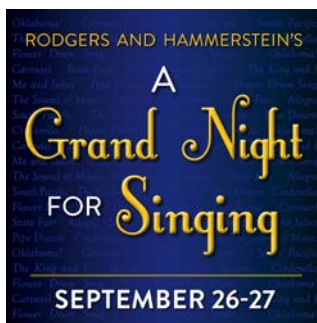

Robert J. Eagle
